HISTORIC OVERVIEW

50 YEARS OF UNCOMPROMISING COMMITMENT TO HOSPITALITY

For more than 50 years, the Baraw family has owned and operated Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa in Stowe, Vermont. Initially a modest motel built in 1963, the Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa has evolved into a destination resort.

Under the guidance of Chuck Baraw, Stoweflake has developed into one of Vermont's premier destinations. Today, three generations of the Baraw family participate at the resort and as part of the 40th anniversary celebration in 2003, the property opened the Spa at Stoweflake. The facility established Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa as a premier spa destination in the country and the largest and most inclusive spa in Vermont.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE STOWEFLAKE MOUNTAIN RESORT & SPA

- 1948 Native Vermonter, Stuart Baraw, Sr. and wife, Beatrice, purchase three acres of pasture from the Gale Farm on the Mountain Road. They built a small cottage for weekend ski trips.
- 1950's The Baraws build a series of additions onto the cottage, and add bunk beds to make room for family, friends and other ski enthusiasts.
- 1963 The Baraws move to Stowe permanently, and build a large, two-story structure with extra rooms to rent out. The new building consists of 20 guest rooms, a dining room and an apartment for them. The couple calls the place "Stoweflake" and the Inn opens!
- 1970 The neighboring hotel, the Nordic Motor Inn is purchased. Tennis courts, chip and pitch course, and poolside cabana are added for summer guests.
- 1980 The Stoweflake townhouses, featuring two or three bedrooms, sitting area and kitchenette or full kitchens, dining rooms, fireplace, decks and living rooms are completed.
- 1981 The two inns are combined into one resort. A new restaurant and pub, The Rib Room, is completed. The resort officially takes on the name Stoweflake Resort.
- 1984 Stoweflake is renovated and upgraded to include deluxe guest rooms.
- 1986 The first Stoweflake Annual Balloon Festival is launched! Modest in its early years, the weekend event now draws thousands of visitors to Stowe each July. The family fun filled festival includes children's activities, live band and sunrise and sunset launches with two dozen expert pilots.
- 1989 The Rib Room is renovated, and becomes Winfield's, an elegant restaurant named after Stuart Winfield Baraw, Sr. The more casual pub is renamed Charlie B's Pub & Wine Bar, after Charles Henry Baraw.

- 1990 An 1,800 SF atrium reception area opens along with the Beatrice Room, an executive boardroom. The front entry, lobby, offices and grounds are upgraded. Professional golf practice area opens.
- 1998 The newly constructed East Wing, which replaces the original Stoweflake building adds 40 luxury rooms and suites, a 4,500 SF conference room/ballroom and Spa & Sports and Wellness Center. The resort is renamed Stoweflake Mountain Resort & Spa.
- 2000 The new Meadows luxury townhouses are completed. The one, two- or threebedroom units boast over 2,200 SF of living space, fully-equipped kitchen, living room with fireplace, dining room, laundry and private decks.
- 2003 The 50,000 SF Spa at Stoweflake opens to the public. Facilities feature private men/women's sanctuary lounges, an aqua solarium with Bingham Hydrotherapy Waterfall, Hungarian mineral soaking pool, 30 treatment rooms and 41 new luxury guest rooms.
- 2004 The Spa at Stoweflake Educational Center of the Healing Arts is launched as a means to educate therapists on distinctive, unique spa treatments. Sheri Baraw, General Manager is also appointed Vice President of Stoweflake. Scot Baraw is promoted to Vice President of Sales.
- 2005 A par-three executive golf course opens on property. This course winds through the meadows next to the spa and townhouses.
- 2007 Conference Center at Stoweflake celebrates the 10th anniversary of receiving Successful Meetings Magazine's Pinnacle Award making the Conference Center the most award-winning venue of its kind in New England.
- 2013 Stoweflake celebrates its 50th Anniversary as a family owned and operated resort.

TOURISM

There are four state parks in the area offering a range of year-round recreational opportunities.

In winter, skiers and snowboarders from around the world come to experience Smugglers' Notch Resort and Stowe Mountain Resort, and 1000s of acres of back country terrain and more than 100 miles of snowmobile trails. Winter attractions are rounded out with unique experiences like sleigh rides, indoor and outdoor ice skating, dog sledding, snow biking, and snowshoeing. The diverse activities support this region as a national and international recreational destination year-round. Skiing and the town of Stowe expanded steadily as interest in the sport grew. In the process, Stowe established its reputation as one of the premier ski resorts and vacation destinations in the world. Today, Stowe offers guests an outstanding variety of year-round recreational activities, attractions and special events from world-class skiing and riding terrain to a myriad of on-mountain programs and off-mountain activities capable of satisfying the most discerning travelers. Stowe has been a summer vacation destination since the mid 1800's and became the major eastern ski resort in the 1940's. While still enjoying its reputation as the best in the east for skiing, Stowe has become a year-round resort destination.

Stowe maintains a vibrant cultural identity rooted in the tradition of rural Vermont. It bolsters an eclectic blend of cultures as expressed through diverse local arts, products, festivals, and other activities. Unique Vermont products help to create a distinctive sense of place for this area. Famous Vermont products are available at places like Cabot Farmers' Store, Ben & Jerry's Factory, Green Mountain Coffee, Cold Hollow Cider Mill and The Alchemist Brewery.

The area in and around Stowe enjoys a unique natural legacy. Mount Mansfield stands as Vermont's highest peak and holds a dominant presence in the region, serving as the primary natural and cultural landmark. The recreational activities that have come to define the area are largely in place because of the pristine and breathtaking natural qualities of the Green Mountains and the Worcester Range. Waterbury Reservoir and Green River Reservoir are the largest water bodies surrounding the area. Various other rivers and streams present natural resource value for their recreational and scenic quality. Recreation holds a dominant, year-round presence and the alluring natural features have long been a draw to the area. Tourism continues to be the economic generator and cultural vitality of the region.

Besides the mountain, tourists came to visit the famous Smugglers' Notch, a deep pass between Mount Mansfield and Sterling Mountain. Its 1,000-foot cliffs, huge boulders, and caves have lured explorers. In the earlier days, only a footpath and trail for horses existed here. Today, visitors can drive a narrow winding road and enjoy the views Spring through Fall where you can pull off and see Big Spring.

In 1807, President Jefferson passed an embargo act forbidding American trade with Great Britain and Canada. This was a severe hardship for northern Vermonters, since Montreal was closer than other markets in the US. Many local people continued illegal trade with Canada, herding cattle and carrying other goods through the Notch. Later, fugitive slaves used the Notch as an escape route to Canada. During the Prohibition years, liquor was smuggled from Canada over the improved road built in 1922.

The Vermont Ski and Snowboard Museum, established in Brandon in 1988 as The Vermont Ski Museum, was moved to Stowe in 2000 and opened to the public in its current location in 2002. In 2011, the word snowboarding was added to the museum's name. Currently the museum has 9 permanent and 3 rotating exhibits.

The museum's main objective is to "collect, preserve, and celebrate Vermont's skiing and snowboarding history", and its mission is "to utilize the resources belonging and accessible to the Vermont Ski and Snowboard Museum to create visually stimulating, historically indepth exhibits that fulfill this mission that fulfill the mission to Collect, Preserve and Celebrate Vermont's Skiing and Snowboarding History".

Stowe maintains a vibrant cultural identity rooted in the tradition of rural Vermont. It bolsters an eclectic blend of cultures as expressed through diverse local arts, products, festivals, and other activities. The common cultural themes are the traditional place specific sensibility and a contemporary cultural atmosphere. The area also boasts a rich array of opportunities in the arts.

Unique Vermont products help to create a distinctive sense of place for this area. Famous Vermont products are available at places like Cabot Farmers' Store, Ben & Jerry's Factory, Green Mountain Coffee, Cold Hollow Cider Mill and The Alchemist Brewery.

The Stowe Theater Guild, along with Hyde Park Opera House, and the Waterbury Festival Players, offer theatrical productions each summer. Throughout the year, Stowe is host to arts and crafts shows and many time-honored events that are not to be missed. Below are just a few of the popular Signature Annual Events in Stowe.
