

*"...honoring our past
and innovating for the future"*

A LETTER FROM GEORGETOWN LEADERSHIP

Greetings from Georgetown!

WE'RE GROWING

Georgetown is the seventh fastest growing city in the nation and the third safest city of our size in Texas. Since 2010, our population has increased more than 56 percent. We promise, we're not trying to be the fastest-growing city in the U.S. Frankly, people choose Georgetown because we are a safe city with a high-quality of life, great parks, an award-winning library, a low tax rate, and the Most Beautiful Town Square in Texas.

PEOPLE LIKE US

The 2018 citizen survey showed more than 80 percent of Georgetown residents believe the value of the city taxes paid is either good or excellent, while 98 percent said the quality of life in Georgetown is either good or excellent. Georgetown was honored to be named No. 1 on The South's Best Cities to Live 2018 list by Southern Living magazine. We recognize what a great place Georgetown is, and others recognize it, too.

VISION FOR THE FUTURE

In 2017, the Georgetown City Council created a new vision statement for the city. Georgetown: A caring community honoring our past and innovating for the future. The City of Georgetown has remained steadfast in our focus on expanding employment opportunities, while preparing for the growth that we know will come. Our community wants the city to grow in a strategic way, while retaining our world-famous character and charm.

Sincerely,

Dale Ross
Mayor, City of Georgetown

GEORGETOWN UTILITIES

ELECTRICITY

In 1910, Georgetown voters approved a bond to build the Georgetown Light and Water Works plant on Ninth Street. Over the last century, Georgetown has developed and maintained a highly-reliable, community-owned and -operated electric utility. In April 2019, Georgetown's Electric Utility attained diamond level status under the American Public Power Association's Reliable Public Power Provider program. This is the program's highest level of recognition and is only awarded after a rigorous application process and outside review.

WATER | WASTEWATER

The City of Georgetown serves about 42,000 water accounts representing more than 100,000 customers in a 440-square-mile service area that includes the City of Georgetown and parts of Williamson, Bell, and Burnet counties. The City is fortunate to have enough water to serve our customers through 2043; however, through conservation, the water supply will last past 2050.

Go GEO

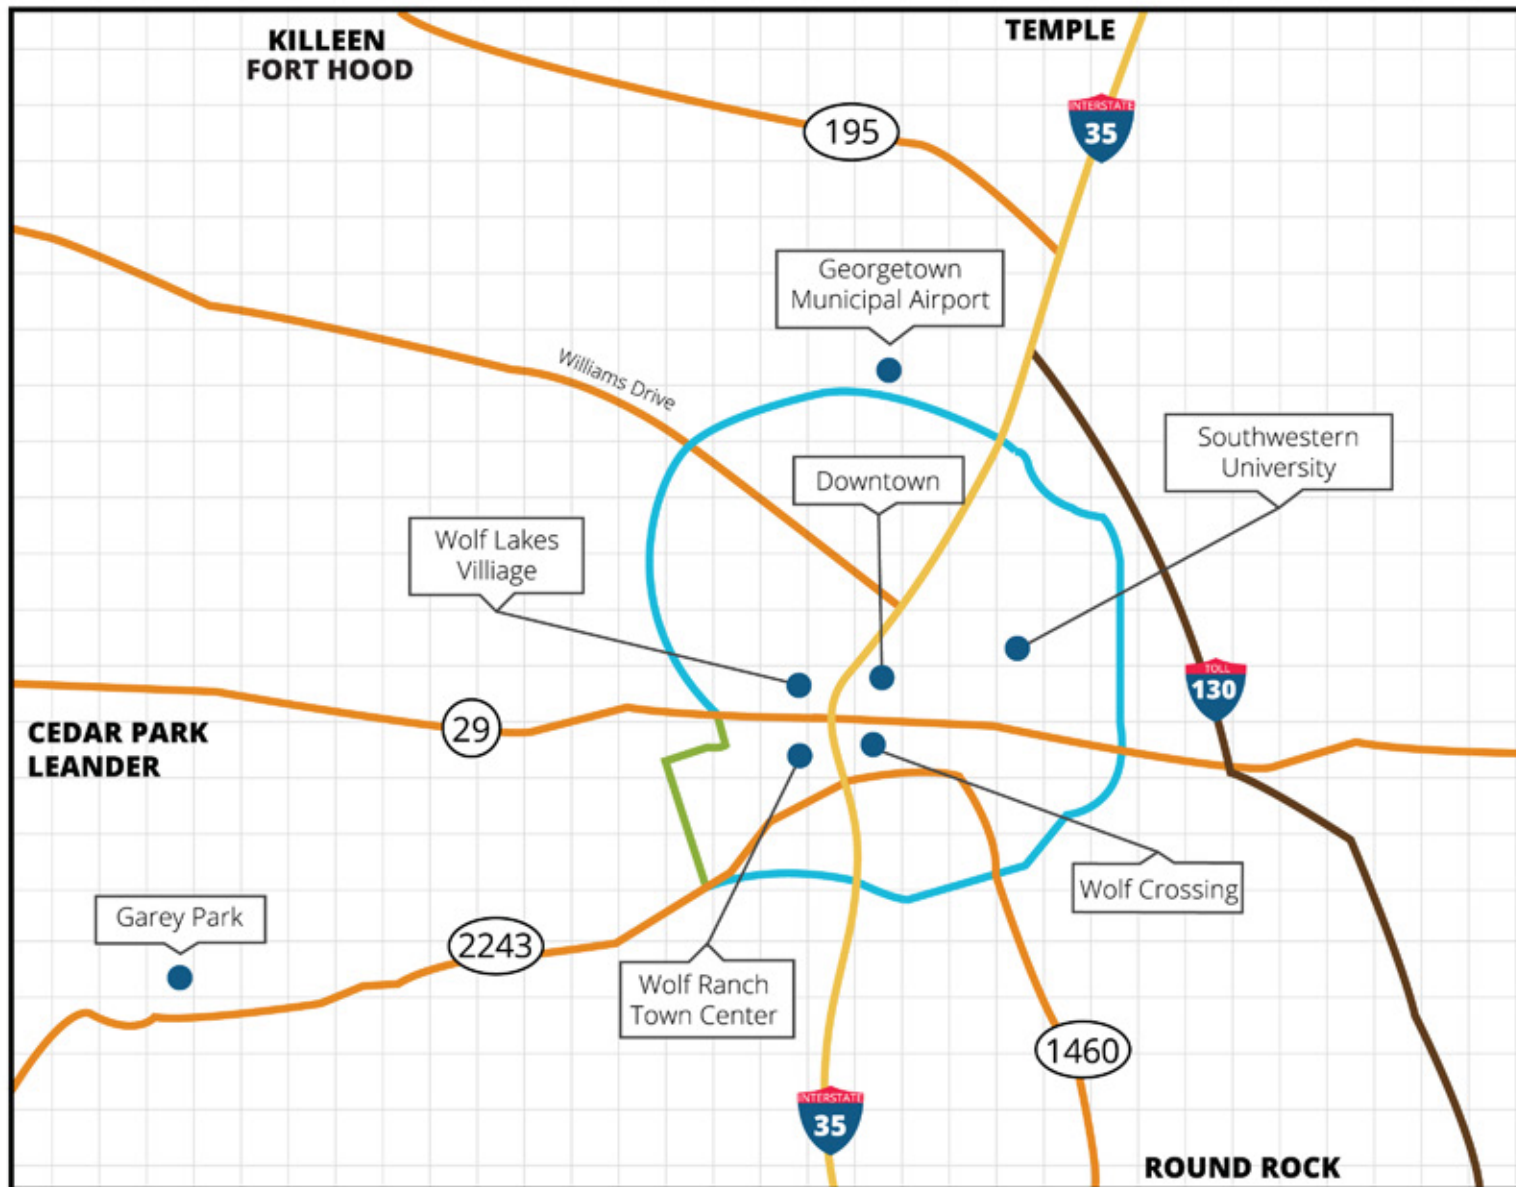

Georgetown launched its fixed-route and paratransit bus system in August 2017. The four routes meet at a central hub at the Georgetown Public Library. The system is funded by inexpensive rider fares (two dollars a day) as well as the City of Georgetown, Georgetown Health Foundation, and Capital Metro.

AIRPORT

The Georgetown Municipal Airport is a towered reliever general aviation airport serving general and corporate aviation. Owned by the City of Georgetown, the airport provides full-service amenities, aviation fuel, avionics sales, service, and aircraft maintenance. The main runway is 5,004 ft and can handle most business air traffic including G-4 and Global Express.

CONNECTIVITY

GEORGETOWN ROADS

The City of Georgetown's Overall Transportation Plan (OTP) is critical in the development of the City. It guides future roadway improvements, construction of new facilities, and outlines the City's transportation goals. The revision and adoption of the OTP is a deliberate and thoughtful process with the goal to provide a complete understanding of the relationship between land use and the transportation infrastructure required to support those uses.
