East Point

The City of East Point was chartered in 1887 and is comprised of an ethnically diverse community. Between 2010 and 2014, the overall population grew 5.3%. With over 38,000 residents, and more than 17,000 households, it's the sixth largest city in Fulton County. The name "East Point" derives from the fact that this is the terminus of the Atlanta & West Point Railroad in the east; West Point Georgia, is the terminus where the rail line ends in the west. This settlement was founded as a railroad terminus in 1870, and quickly became an inviting place for industry to develop.

The City of East Point is a quaint and ethnically diverse urban community that offers the full amenities of in-town living. The City attracts everyone from young professionals to active adults, and boasts over 25 unique and affordable neighborhoods offering a variety of desirable features. The neighborhoods surrounding the downtown area have appealing historic character and are known for their walkability, tree-lined streets and charming bungalows, cottages, and Cape Cod style homes. Residents, businesses and visitors all enjoy the light traffic, easy access to the airport, highways and MARTA bus and rail transportation system, the Downtown District, which includes a unique historic district, the State's only Velodrome and Camp Creek Marketplace, a 425,000-square-foot retail destination.

'Transformative' East Point Commons project finally moves forward

November 3, 2023 Josh Green

Two years after it was announced, a multi-pronged development expected to inject downtown East Point with hundreds of jobs, housing options, and commercial vibrancy has set a potential start date.

City of East Point officials on Wednesday approved a real estate purchase deal with Atlanta-based Mynd Match Development Group that green-lights the redevelopment of 9 acres in the 2700 block of Main Street into a mixed-use hub called The Commons.

As laid out in site plans, The Commons calls for roughly 79,000 square feet of commercial space in the form of offices, shops, and restaurants, all situated just north of East Point's historic downtown and MARTA hub.

On the residential side, 316 multifamily units and 23 single-family townhomes are in the works, alongside 11,440 square feet of amenity areas. Plans also call for 403 parking spaces for residents and visitors in two garages, with more parking at street level.

According to city officials, the land deal with Mynd Match allows for "transformative" development and "marks a significant milestone in East Point's ongoing efforts to enhance its economic vitality and quality of life," per a Thursday announcement.

A groundbreaking ceremony for The Commons has been set for Friday, Dec. 29 to "serve as a symbol of progress and a testament to the collaborative effort" between the city and development partners, according to city officials.

Initial redevelopment plans for the largely empty 9 acres were unveiled in late 2021, when project leaders predicted the TVS-designed venture would cost $111 million.

The project's broader goal is to provide equitable housing, more services, and retail options while extending the city's walkable appeal northward toward downtown Atlanta, city officials have said.

East Point Mayor Deana Holiday Ingraham has predicted The Commons will become a placemaking cog for downtown that spurs further revitalization. Excell Lewis, Mynd Match's chairman and CEO, forecasted in 2022 the project will create 1,500 jobs, including work for local contractors during the building process.
